

BINAKUL CLOTH

The Binakul features uniformed interlocking geometric patterns that produce psychedelic optical art designs. These represent the waves of the sea and are said to protect against malevolent spirits among the indigenous people of the Cordilleras in Northern Philippines. Originating from the Ilocos Region, the Binakul is the most recognizable design pattern on the hand-woven textile called Abel.

PHILIPPINES

